Michael Ward, in addition to his position at the University of Oxford, has appointments at two U.S. universities: as a professor of apologetics at Houston Baptist University in Texas and as a visiting professor at St. Katherine College in California. He is the author of Planet Narnia: The Seven Heavens in the Imagination of C.S. Lewis (2010) and the co-editor of the Cambridge Companion to C.S. Lewis (2010), and he presented the BBC television documentary, the Narnia Code (2009). As an Anglican clergyman, he served as chaplain of St. Peter’s College at the University of Oxford (2009–12) and as chaplain of Peterhouse at the University of Cambridge (2004–07). Ward was resident warden of The Kilns, C.S. Lewis’ Oxford home (1996–99). He studied English at Oxford, theology at Cambridge, and received a PhD in divinity from St. Andrews.

A light reception will follow the lecture and Q&A. RSVP by 5:00 P.M. on Monday, 3 June to Nellie Ashby at nellie.ashby@byu.edu.

Co-sponsored by the Center for the Study of Europe and International Study Programs.
