Ask Me Anything about how to get your first job in D.C., foreign disaster assistance, grad schools, and diplomacy career strategies.

Sam Dearden is a program management coordinator at USAID's Office of Foreign Disaster Assistance. Previously, Dearden worked at USAID's Office of Food for Peace as a Program Assistant. He received a BA in history from Brigham Young University, where he was the president of the Foreign Service Student Organization, and an MA in modern British history from the University of Cambridge.
