Thailand offers many opportunities to experience a very different approach to life than that found in the United States. Thai Buddhism emphasizes coming to accept the impermanence of all things as a way of detaching oneself from suffering. This culture also generates its own unique approaches to development issues. Students will work closely with Thai experts as they seek to identify and resolve local problems. Internship work will depend on the student's major and area of expertise as well as availability. Opportunities in the past have included working in orphanages and women's rescue shelters, serving as legal aids to provincial judges, assisting irrigation and water resource projects, and teaching English in local schools. Students have also had the opportunity to work with NGOs that focus on small-scale economic development as well as disease prevention & nutrition. Students will also participate in cultural excursions and weekly trips throughout the country.

COST
$6,700–7,200
Includes Latter-day Saint, undergraduate full tuition (increased cost for graduate and non-Latter-day Saint students), lodging, at least two meals a day with host family, transportation to and from internships, costs associated with in-country excursions (a possible international excursion, depending on enrollment), and international health insurance coverage.

Does not include airfare (typically $1,400–1,800 from U.S. to Thailand), passport and visa ($100), vaccinations ($100–200), meals on excursions, or personal expenses.

TRAVEL
Students are responsible for purchasing their own airfare to and from the program sites. Airline reservations must be made through BYU Travel. Students should contact a BYU Travel agent. BYU Travel | 280 HRCB | (801) 422-6293 | travel@byu.edu

PREPARATION
Accepted students are required to participate in an international, cross-cultural preparation course (IAS 369R, 1 credit hour). This course will be held during the second block of winter semester 2024. Part-time BYU students will need to pay an additional tuition fee.

Spouses also need to be credit-bearing participants on the program; they must apply online and take the preparation course.

Students must meet all country- and program-specific COVID and health requirements for travel.

FUNDING SOURCES
Regular BYU tuition scholarships, Pell Grants, and Federal Insured Student Loans may be applied to study abroad programs.

Students who submit the financial aid section of the ISP application and who have a current FAFSA form on file at the Financial Aid Office (A-41 ASB) will be considered for a Study Abroad scholarship.

Academic departments and colleges may assist with scholarships and grants.

Private grants and scholarships outside of BYU may also assist (see kennedy.byu.edu/scholarships).

APPLICATION PROCESS
BYU welcomes students from any university to apply to participate on our study abroad programs. However, internships and direct enrollment programs are limited to BYU Provo students.

Students must be 18 years of age or older to participate.

Complete the online application here. A nonrefundable $35 application fee is required; applicants will be interviewed once the application is complete.

Students will be notified via e-mail of their acceptance into the program. The first payment is due upon acceptance. Please refer to the 2024 Payment Information page.

Application Deadline: 1 February 2024
