

DISCIPLE-SCHOLAR LECTURE

BLESSED ARE THE PEACEMAKERS

What are the causes of prejudice? How can we increase intergroup harmony? In this Kennedy Center disciple-scholar lecture, Professor Joshua Gubler will share insights about how both Christian discipleship and academic scholarship have helped him find some answers to these important questions in peacebuilding.

Joshua Gubler is an associate professor of Political Science and the program coordinator for the Middle Eastern Studies/Arabic program at BYU. His research focuses on identifying the causes of, and solutions for, intergroup prejudice at home and abroad.

WEDNESDAY
26 MAR 2025
NOON
238 HRCB

Part of our winter 2025 lecture series,
“Building and Brokering Peace.”

BYU

David M. Kennedy Center for International Studies