

Danish Healthcare

Jonas Dahl is a former Member of Parliament in the Danish Folketing. During eleven years as an elected politician, Dahl, among other things, was chief whip for his party in the Parliament and one of the youngest ministers while he was a minister of taxation. Now retired from politics, he is CEO of Randers Regional Hospital and lives with his wife and two children in Aarhus, Denmark.