

Switzerland Environmental Health

Students will learn environmental and occupational health systems in a variety of settings in Switzerland. Program locations will include Bern, Basel, Geneva, and the Interlaken area in the Swiss Alps. Talks will be held with the WHO, the International Labor Organization, private industrial companies, academic institutions, NGOs and governmental organizations.

The info meetings will be an opportunity to meet Professor Steve Thygeron who will be leading the group in Switzerland.

To learn more about this program: <https://kennedy.byu.edu/switzerland-environmental-health/>.