

Mangú for Marissa!

This country is BEAUTIFUL! I wake up so happy to realize that I'm within miles of the beach and the sun is shining outside and people are waiting to welcome us. I also realize that there is a lot of need here for the Self-Reliance Initiative; there is a lot of poverty as well as people who are searching for help to reach the next level of finding ways to succeed in living happily and comfortably with their families.

Hno. Alvarado, who is in charge of a the Self-Reliance Initiative in several countries, said that we have the potential to influence many, many lives through our efforts here. The work we do can impact thousands of members in the Caribbean. We will travel a little bit in the DR, but can also do work online that will help the Self-Reliance efforts from a distance.
