

Melanie Sanders-Smith works independently as a business consultant in the Washington, DC, metropolitan area. Sanders-Smith draws from years of experience directing and presiding over various institutions, such as the Institute of International Education and Chemonics International, a trade and development company. BA: international relations, 1982; MA: political science, 1984; MBA: 1997