

Nanjing 2017

I'm in Nanjing now after a fairly quick train ride. The Shanghai train station was nuts- so so many people. I have to just that all day yesterday was a total miracle. How I got to this apartment is beyond me. It ended with me alone, around midnight, with my phone battery being at 2% and a brand new Chinese phone number and being in a dark alley not knowing the address to the apartment I was supposed to be sleeping in. More...