Stefan Biedermann

DEPUTY CONSUL, GERMAN CONSULATE IN LOS ANGELES

Stefan Biedermann was appointed deputy consul at the German Consulate in Los Angeles in 2012. Since joining the German Foreign Service in 1993, Biedermann has served in Berlin, Japan, and Cameroon in consulates and in embassies. Previously, he worked as a journalist and covered the fall of the wall and German reunification for Japanese TV in Berlin. Born in the Bavarian countryside, Biedermann received MAs in history and Japanese studies from universities in Berlin, Kyoto, and Tokyo. He and his wife are the parents of two children. His hobbies include reading, guitars, music, and pursuing an interest in the history of art.

Hanni Geist from the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) in San Francisco will present the portion on student opportunities for study and research in Germany.
