

DAVID M.
KENNEDY CENTER
FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

Niger River
Great Zimbabwe
The Battle of Omdurman
Atlantic Slave Trade
pass marches on Pretoria 1956
Cape Verde
Guinea-Bissau
Dakar
Nha Fala
Congo Basin
Amanhã
Cidju Azul di Yonta
Rostov-Luanda
Mortu Nica
Mhudi
Julius Nyerere
Zimbabwe
Wole Soyinka
Things Fall Apart
Flora Gomes
Chocolate
Mayombe
9/25 The Blue
10/9 Eyes of Yonta
10/16 Kinyarwanda
10/23 Amandla!
A Revolution in Four-
Part Harmony
Rwanda
Lourenço Marques
Africans
Niger River
Swahili
Wole Soyinka
Mandela
Nelson
Lilo Moropie
Good Kings of Wood
Nations

International Cinema will screen films in 250 SWKT.

AFRICAN WORLDS

LECTURES ON AFRICA AND THE HUMANITIES

8 NOVEMBER
11:00 A.M.
238 HRCB

MOZAMBIQUE AND THE LUSOPHONE WORLD: THEIR PAST AND FUTURE

Ungulani Ba Ka Khosa

Francisco Esaú Cossa goes by his Tsonga name, Ungulani Ba Ka Khosa, as a speaker of Tsonga and a member of the Tsonga ethnic group of southern Mozambique. Khosa is the director of the Instituto Nacional do Livro e do Disco (National Institute of the Book and Disc). He began his literary career publishing short stories and co-founding Charrua, a magazine of the Associação dos Escritores Moçambicanos (Association of Mozambican Writers), of which he is a member. His latest novel is Choriro. Khosa received a BA in history and geography from the Universidade Eduardo Mondlane in Maputo.

Sponsored by the David M. Kennedy Center for International Studies, Department of History, Department of Spanish & Portuguese, College of Family, Home, and Social Sciences Annual Giving Fund, and International Cinema.