

TRUST BETWEEN EUROPEAN MICROSTATES AND THEIR NEIGHBORS

WEDNESDAY, 12 MARCH
NOON
238 HRCB

Ken Stiles

PROFESSOR OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Ken Stiles, a professor of political science and international relations coordinator, came to BYU in 2003 after teaching for several years at Loyola in Chicago and Bowling Green State University in Ohio. Stiles' current research is on international law and cooperation. His publications include the forthcoming book Who Complies, which will be published next year, Cooperating without America (with Stefan Brem), and International Norms and Cycles of Change (with Wayne Sandholtz). Stiles received a BA and an MA from Brigham Young University and a PhD from Johns Hopkins University. He and his wife Rebecca are the parents of five children, and they have ten grandchildren.