Dwight Raymond

CO-DIRECTOR, MARO PROJECT, PKSOI

Dwight Raymond joined the U.S. Army Peacekeeping and Stability Operations Institute (PKSOI) in July 2009 after retiring from the Army as an Infantry Colonel. Raymond is the doctrine and concept analyst in the Doctrine, Concept, Education, and Training Division at PKSOI. He is also co-director of Mass Atrocity Response Operations (MARO), a joint project with the Carr Center for Human Rights Policy at Harvard, and one of the primary authors of the MARO project's military planning handbook. His military assignments have included infantry leadership, command, and staff positions; faculty positions at the U.S. Military Academy and the U.S. Army

War College; theater-level plans positions in Korea; training and advisory assignments at the National Training Center; and in Iraq as an advisor to an Iraqi Army brigade. Among his awards are the Defense Superior Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal, Combat Infantryman's Badge, and the Airborne, Ranger, and Pathfinder qualification badges. Raymond received a bachelor's degree from the U.S. Military Academy and master's degrees from the University of Maryland School of Public Affairs, the U.S. Army School of Advanced Military Studies, and the U.S. Army War College.
