Adam Fife

DIRECTOR OF UNCONVENTIONAL SOLUTIONS, U.S. GOVERNMENT CONTRACTOR

Adam Fife serves as the director of unconventional solutions for a U.S. government services provider, where he focuses his efforts on working with various U.S. agencies in new approaches to countering terrorism and insurgencies worldwide. Presently, Fife works throughout the Horn of Africa, Middle East, and Southwest Asia to better understand the complex problem sets that face counterinsurgency practitioners. Previously, he has worked in Iraq with Multi-National Force-Iraq as a senior strategic communications advisor and has advised senior policy makers, U.S. government officials, military commanders, and politicians in communications and policy implementation strategy. He received a BA in international studies from Brigham Young University, while completing an MA at the University of Utah, and moonlighted as a political science instructor with BYU's Political Science Department and the Kennedy Center. Now living in Virginia, Fife and his wife, Megan, are the parents of two sons, Brigham and Jackson.
