

European Studies Lecture
Winter 2007

EU and the Global Economy

Kyle A. Galler

Permanent official, General Secretariat of the Council of the EU

Thursday, 15 February

NOON

238 HRCB

Kyle A. Galler has been a permanent official at the General Secretariat of the Council of the EU since 1999 and has been working in directorate general G with responsibility for economic and financial affairs since 2001. Galler was previously in the department responsible for the internal market. His background includes positions with HM Treasury and an early start with Pricewaterhouse in London. He is a regular lecturer on UK Civil Service College Courses on the EU, both on the role of the council and on specific areas of economic policy. Educated at Emmanuel College, Cambridge University, he received a BA in classics with double First Class Honors and is also fluent in French. Galler and his wife are the parents of two children.