

Global Awareness Lecture
Spring 2007

Trafficking in Persons: A Modern-Day Form of Slavery

Rebecca E. Billings

G/TIP programs coordinator, Asia and Pacific Region,
U.S. Department of State

Wednesday, 16 May

NOON

238 HRCB

Rebecca Billings currently serves as a foreign affairs officer in the Office to Monitor and Combat Trafficking in Persons. Billings joined the U.S. State Department in 2003 and has worked with the Bureau for International Narcotics and Law Enforcement Affairs, covering southeast Europe and working in the executive secretariat assisting the Secretary of State with her overseas travels, including being assigned to assist with negotiations in Jerusalem during the Israel–Lebanon conflict in July 2006. Her career path following graduation led her from Utah Valley, to Chicago, and on to Washington, D.C. Billings received both a BA and an MA in humanities with an emphasis in art history.

Career Lecture

Traveling with the Secretary of State

Wednesday, 16 May

3:00 P.M., 238 HRCB

