Julie D. Saad

FEDERAL HUMAN RESOURCES POLICY SPECIALIST

Julie D. Saad is a Federal human resources policy specialist from the Annenberg Speaker's Bureau with the Partnership for Public Service. In this role, Saad researches and responds to inquiries from stakeholders—including members of Congress, Federal agencies, and White House personnel—on a variety of human resources policy and regulatory issues. She also works on Federal outreach initiatives targeted toward students at colleges and universities across the country. Prior to her Federal career, Saad worked for over four years in the Ohio General Assembly as both a Legislative Aide in the Ohio Senate and Legislative Page in the Ohio House of Representatives. Her service on numerous boards and professional organizations includes Young Government Leaders, the American University School of Public Affairs Graduate Council, Phi Alpha Alpha National Honor Society for Public Administration, and the John Glenn Institute for Public Service and Public Policy. She received a BA in political science, with minors in communications and philosophy, graduating summa cum laude with honors from The Ohio State University in 2003. And she received an MPA and a graduate certificate in women, policy, and political leadership from American University in 2007.
