

Sigma Iota Rho presents

The Aftermath of Haiti's Earthquake

David D. Clark

Regional vice president and CEO, Intermountain Healthcare Urban South Region

Thursday, 4 February

11:00 A.M.

238 HRCB

David D. Clark joined Intermountain Healthcare in November 2001, where he is responsible for the overall operations of the region, consisting of three hospitals and other related services. With over twenty years of progressively responsible healthcare management experience, Clark's experience includes four hospital CEO positions, ranging from a small rural hospital in Crosbyton, Texas to a large, 432-bed tertiary care hospital in Corpus Christi, Texas. In his current position, responsible for a five-hundred-bed region with over four thousand employees. He is a Fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives and is serving a three-year, voluntary term as the Regent for the state of Utah in the American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE). Last year, Clark was the recipient of the Provo/Orem Chamber of Commerce's Businessman of the Year award and in 2008, Utah Business magazine's Healthcare Heroes award. His civic involvement includes membership on the board of the United Way of Utah County (chairman), the Utah Valley University Community Relations Council (chairman), the Utah Valley Healthcare Foundation, and the Intermountain Urban South Region Board. He received a BS in finance from Brigham Young University and an MBA in health organization management from Texas Tech University. Also a former precinct chair for the Utah County Republican party and an Eagle Scout, Clark and his wife, Dodie, are the parents of four children.