

PEACEFUL TENSION THROUGH RESPECTFUL CONTESTATION BETWEEN TRUSTWORTHY OPPONENTS:

A SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGICAL APPROACH TO DIPLOMACY BETWEEN RELIGIONS

WEDNESDAY, 4 NOVEMBER
NOON
238 HRCB

C. Randall Paul

FOUNDER AND PRESIDENT, FOUNDATION FOR INTERRELIGIOUS DIPLOMACY

C. Randall Paul is founder and president of the Foundation for Interreligious Diplomacy and has lectured widely and written numerous articles on healthy methods for engaging differences in religions and ideologies. Paul is currently completing two books: Fighting about God: Why We Do It and How to Do It Better and Converting the Saints: An American Religious

Conflict and is on the board of editors for the International Journal of Decision Ethics. He has also had a professional career in the commercial real estate business, receiving the Phoenix Skyline Award for Excellence in Urban Development. Paul received an MBA from Harvard (1972) and a PhD from the University of Chicago (2000). He and wife Jann are the parents of five children.