

Umair Bin Riaz

PAKISTANI JOURNALIST

thursday
MAY 4 | 11 am

Brimhall Building, Room 380
BYU School of Communications

JOURNALISM IS THE “LAND OF PURE” – PAKISTAN

Umair Bin Riaz is a journalist from Pakistan who is currently serving at Voice of America, Washington, D.C. as an Atlas Corps – EGLI fellow. He has nine years of work experience in print, electronic and online media and has done news reporting, editing, script writing, researching, interviewing and broadcasting for some of the major Pakistani and international news organizations. He has extensively covered international relations, politics, culture, terrorism, conflicts, and government affairs in his career. He did his M.A. in International Relations and B.E. in Software Engineering from Pakistan. He is currently enrolled in M. Phil. in European Studies program at Area Study Centre for Europe, Pakistan, where he also served as Research Associate for three months before arriving the U.S. in May 2016.

