Ask Me Anything about jumpstarting your career in D.C., international relations, development, and much more.

David Trichler is director of operations at William & Mary's Institute for the Theory & Practice of International Relations, where he is responsible for catalyzing applied research by faculty and students to address pressing global challenges. Previously, Trichler worked for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, USAID, ExxonMobil Foundation, and the World Bank. He is a TedX speaker and a lucky husband to an insanely talented wife and father of a daughter who loves dogs, cheese, and her parents, in that order.
