Ask Me Anything about cybersecurity, technology careers for liberal arts students, and opportunities in the healthcare sector and in Denver.

Peter Rasmussen is a cybersecurity principal with Kaiser Permanente. Rasmussen researches how people interact online, leading to a career in cybersecurity. He also worked for IBM, earning technical certifications in multiple IT security fields, received a BA in international relations from BYU and an MBA from Regis University. Rasmussen and his wife Joy live with their three children near Denver. He reports that he deliberately disconnects from the Internet every day.
