Ask Me Anything on creating an international career path, Europe/Middle East geopolitics, and living your faith in places where you cannot do so openly.

David Arnold currently advises senior management at the world's largest oil and gas company, Saudi Aramco. Since graduating from BYU in 2001, Arnold's career has spanned government, finance, consulting, nonprofit, and oil and gas. He served as a policy advisor in the U.S. Senate, worked in investment management and consulting in Paris, and received an MBA from the London Business School. His experience in BYU's Model UN program played a significant role in shaping his career path and global mindset. He resides in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, with his wife and four children.
