

Brand Ambassador Intern

Atlantis is launching a Brand Ambassador program this upcoming semester as a counterpart to our exciting, company-wide rebranding initiative. We are looking for top-notch student interns to work with us as the face of Atlantis on college campuses around the country.

Who are we?

At Atlantis, we're rethinking the way education works. If you didn't know, pre-med students spend a lot of time in the classroom, rather than finding out what it actually looks like to be a doctor (and no, it's not at all like Gray's Anatomy). We're changing that.

Our goal is to prepare pre-med students for a career in medicine by fostering real-life experience and interactions early on in their careers. We are a growth-stage, entrepreneurial company that partners with hospitals all over Europe to host our students for several weeks of intensive job shadowing, group excursions, and cultural immersion.

Since being founded in 2012, Atlantis has been recognized by America's leading healthcare and study abroad institutions such as American Medical Student Association (AMSA), The Forum on Education Abroad, and GoOverseas.

Our HQ is located right outside of Washington, D.C., and our staff is young, energetic, and excited about international opportunities. We're excited to partner with interns on their campuses across the country and are highly accessible for any questions regarding our programs or this position.

Who are you?

You're eager to get started in the ever-changing and challenging world of business. You are excited about working for a fast-paced and rapidly-growing company, and are interested in learning more about business development, marketing, entrepreneurship, communications, sociology, or psychology.

You are outgoing, resilient, goal-oriented, and flexible. You generally enjoy speaking with your peers, making connections on campus, and aren't afraid to hustle to get the job done. You're also creative and fun; you enjoy connecting with a team and testing new solutions to meet your goals.

You do not need to have prior awareness of Atlantis for this position. This is a semester-long, paid, hourly position, with an opportunity to move into a more permanent Ambassador role. If you're selected, you'll be flown in for an all-expense paid training and development seminar at our HQ in Washington, D.C.

Position Requirements:

- Highly recommended that you be able to attend the (all-expense paid) in-person training seminar in Washington, D.C. either August 19 - 20 or August 23 - 24
- Able to work at least 10 hours per week from campus (not a D.C. based position)
- Oriented around performance metrics, able to juggle multiple tasks to reach goals
- Adaptable, comfortable in a high-change environment

A day as an Atlantis Brand Ambassador Intern may look like:

- Greeting pre-med / pre-health students after class and distributing marketing materials
- Maintaining the appearance of Atlantis materials on campus (flyers, signs, brochures, etc.)
- Gaining a basic understanding of the Atlantis brand and products, connecting interested students to Atlantis alumni or staff when necessary
- Gathering potential customer info (name, email, phone number) and sharing it with the marketing team
- Interacting with and reporting to the Atlantis marketing team (we're lots of fun!)

Benefits and perks to working with Atlantis include:

- All-expense paid training at our HQ in Washington, D.C.
- Atlantis swag and promotional materials
- Career/Leadership Development: Real-time experience working in a start-up environment, and opportunity for upward mobility in the company
- Bonus Opportunities: Networking and Recruiting
