How is masculinity understood and practiced in contemporary Europe? How have recent developments related to the workplace, changing family structures, the world of politics, and other domains impacted men? What can representations of masculinity in European film, literature, and the media teach us about these evolving definitions?

BYU faculty across various disciplines will engage in a lively conversation on this timely topic.