

Why We Should Decolonize Global Health: Lessons from COVID-19

Is “global health” actually global? Who does global health, who is it done to, and why? What happens to global health when faced with an actual global health crisis?

Mamka Anyona is the Policy and Strategy Lead for the UN Multi-Partner Trust Fund for NCDs & Mental Health. She hails from Kenya, where she trained and practiced as a clinician. She earned a Doctor of Public Health degree from Harvard University and a Master of International Health from the University of Copenhagen.

WED | 10 NOV
NOON
238 HRCB
OVERFLOW.BYU.EDU